

June 27, 2010 – Carters Lake
U.S. Army Corps of Engineers

A foot bridge located in Ridgeway Park on the Tumbling Waters Nature Trail crossing Tails Creek has been closed to public access. A potential structural problem with the bridge will need to be investigated before visitors will be permitted to cross the bridge. Visitors may still access the upper trail overlook. The Carters Lake web site will be updated when the bridge is reopened. No time table has been set for reopening the bridge.
